The object of this resolution is to instruct our Senators, and request our Representatives in Congress, to endeavour to obtain the passage of a law extending to all persons who, through want of information, or from other causes, have failed to avail themselves of the benefits of the several laws of Congress, extending to purchasers of public lands, a further credit, &c. &c.

and the said joint resolution was read a first time, and ordered to lie on the table.

Chambers, Graham, Grass, Thompson, Milroy and Gregory, to report thereon by bill or otherwise.

Mr. Stapp from the joint committee appointed to wait on the Governor, and inform him that the two houses of the General Assembly have convened, formed a quorum, and elected their officers, and are now ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make to them, reported that they have performed that duty, and have received for answer, that he is now ready to make his communication to both Houses of the General Assembly, in any way the joint committee of both Houses may request; and that the committee have requested his Excellency to make his communication to both Houses in the Representative Hall, by his private secretary; and have requested him to be present on that occasion.

Mr. Hurst, a member of the House of Representatives, now informed the Senate, that the House of Representatives were ready to receive the Senate in the Representative Hall, to receive the communication from his Excellency, the Governor, by his private secretary, and that seats are prepared for the Senate on the right of the Speaker's seat.

Whereupon,

The Senate then proceeded to the Representative Hall, and took their seats accordingly; when the following message was delivered from his Excellency, the Governor, by Mr. Test, his private secretary, to wit:

Gentlemen of the Senate, and of the House of Representatives,

Having convened in Legislative capacity, for the furtherance of the great interests, which the constitution has entrusted to our care; it becomes my duty to "give to the General Assembly information of the affairs of state," and in aid of your deliberations, to exhibit to your view and recommend for your adoption, such measures as those interests seem to require. In examining our public concerns since the close of the last session, but little seems to have occurred, save that which is in its character public and equally manifest to all. The current of population from the neighbouring states, is daily giving us increase of numbers and improving the condition of agriculture, our great interest: The general prosperity of the state is advancing in a firm and steady pace, to numbers, to wealth, and to a grade of respectability among the states of the union; and what is, most consoling, the health of the country, especially within the last year, is more improved than any other condition. The diseases incident to our climate and our soil have very much abated; in some districts have scarcely been known at all, and in others have prevailed with less severity than in former years. Considerations of this kind are well calculated to draw forth the warmest effusions of gratitude to the author of our being, from whom we receive health, fruitfulness of seasons, and the inestimable privileges of a free government.

In contemplating however the general prosperity of our country, we cannot pass by without notice, the scarcity of a circulating medium; the want of a market for our surplus produce, or what is generally termed the hardness of the times. But by way of remedy for these evils it is obvious that the Legislature have very little to do; for to Congress alone is reserved the power "to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several states." It is evident that causes exist for the situation of the country in this point of view, which are not of a local nature or within the control of a nation or a state. It was not to be expected that the tide of our national prosperity produced by the general convulsions of Europe, which gave to our agriculture a market and to our commerce and shipping interests, much of the carrying trade of the world, should forever continue to flow. It was reasonable to suppose, that the recent peace of Europe, which suddenly became almost as general as the war which had preceded it, would turn millions from the profession of arms to the pursuits of industry, and that the supplies of Europe furnished by themselves, would lessen their demand and our market for the products of agriculture. To these causes broad and extended as they certainly are, we may fairly attribute much of our own condition. It only remains for us to improve the means within our power; our roads and the great highways to the markets as they are. It is our business to increase facilities of intercourse with each other, and with the neighbouring states; to make our internal and municipal regulations as perfect as possible; to encourage industry, and above all to economise our expenditures and lessen as much as possible at all times, the public burdens upon the people. In this way the Government as well as individuals, will best conform to the existing condition of affairs.

The melancholy occurrence of the murder of some Indians on the frontier settlements of the state, has been succeeded by the arrest and imprisonment, in the county of Madison, of several persons charged with such crime. The want of public buildings in that county, created the necessity of a guard and other expenses for the safe keeping of the prisoners. These expenses have been accumulating from the month of March last, the date of the unfortunate transaction, to the present time. Considering the newness of this county, the sparseness of its population and the deleterious effects of the case on its general prosperity, I have thought it my duty to recommend that the expenses incident thereto, and for which the county may be liable, be paid out of the State Treasury.

The further details of this most unpleasant transaction require me to say, that James Hudson, one of the persons charged with the murder of Logan, an Indian chief, was at the last October term of the Madison circuit court, convicted and sentenced to be executed on the first day of December last; that previous to the day appointed for his execution he escaped from prison, and that he might not escape the punishment of his crimes by becoming a fugitive from justice, the time of his execution was, on the suggestion of the presiding judge and the prosecuting attorney of that court, respited and postponed until the twelfth of the present month.

But three days being allowed by law for the session of the court, no other of the prisoners have been tried. They are yet in custody awaiting their trial, for which purpose more time will be necessary than that at present allowed by law. Nor can I pass by the present occasion without expressing to you my strong conviction of the necessity of authorizing special sessions, for the delivery of the jails in vacation. Many, if not all objections to special courts, may be obviated by the details of legislation authorizing them. In all cases, and especially where the prisoner cannot procure bail, the genius and spirit of our institutions would say that his trial should not be so long delayed as it may be under the existing laws.

During the recess a vacancy took place in the presidency of the first judicial circuit. This was filled by an appointment which will expire at the end of the present session.

Agreeably to the provisions of "An act for the better management of the State Prison & for other purposes," Ira Westover Esq. was appointed superintendent of the Prison for three years from the fourth day of August last, under certain conditions and stipulations specified in his bond, which is filed in the office of the secretary of state. Believing from a report of the visitors appointed under the act, that a covering of the wall was necessary to preserve it from injury, Mr. Westover was encouraged to construct such covering and submit his claims for that service to the Legislature. It has been done under the notice of one of the members of the House of Representatives, who will be able to give every needful information respecting it.

I have received a communication from the Governor of Georgia accompanied by a resolution of the Legislature of that state, proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States, which would prohibit "the importation or ingress of any person of color into any one of the United States, contrary to the laws of such state," and have also received from the states of Ohio and Maine, communications disapproving of the aforesaid resolution. These several communications have been accompanied with requests that they be laid before the General Assembly of this state.

I have also received from the Governor of Ohio, sundry resolutions, recommending to the legislatures of the several states and to the congress of the United States, a system providing for the gradual emancipation of slaves, and recommending the passage of an act by the General Government (with the consent of the slave holding states) by which the children of such persons, born after the passage of such act, should, on certain conditions be free at the age of twenty one years. These resolutions have also been accompanied with a request that they be laid before you.

Agreeably to the provisions of "An act for improving the navigation of the river Wabash" approved January 31, 1824, I have communicated to the Governor of Illinois a copy of the act and requested him to recommend to the legislature of that state the adoption of measures calculated to further the object.

By an act of Congress of the 26th of May last, the right of preemption to one quarter section of land in each new county of the states and territories in which there are public lands, is, on certain conditions granted to such counties for the establishment of seats of justice. That the benefit of this provision may be secured to the counties hereafter to be laid off in this state, an act of the legislature seems to be necessary.

By an act also of the last Session of Congress the state of Indiana is authorized to survey and mark through the public lands of the United States, the route of a canal by which to connect the navigation of the Wabash and the Miami of Lake Erie, reserving forever and vesting in the state, the use of ninety feet on each side thereof for the purposes aforesaid, and reserving also from sale during the pleasure of Congress, the sections through which such canal route may pass. As the public lands in that quarter of the state are understood to be surveyed and liable to be brought into market, whenever the pleasure of the President to that effect shall be made known, it is respectfully submitted, that the location of the route during the next summer be authorized by law. In this way only can the advantages of the reservations be secured to the state; for it is reasonable to suppose, that that district of country, important as it naturally is, and important as its improvement would be to the northern and western portions of the state, will speedily be brought into market. It is believed that this route must necessarily be located through some Indian reservations, made by the treaty of St. Mary's, and it is matter of doubt whether the right of soil thus vested in the grantees, would authorize a compact with them on the part of the state for that purpose. Should it be thought necessary to apply to Congress for power thus to stipulate with the grantees, there can be little doubt that such power would readily be given.

It is the duty of the various governments of this confederacy, to cultivate the most friendly understanding and intercourse with each other; the states with the General Government and among themselves. This produces harmony in our system and directs the force of all to the good of all. It is impossible to estimate too highly the importance of the object alluded to. This effected and the great northern avenue of commerce to the ocean and the lakes would be at once complete. An inland navigation from New York to New Orleans as well as to the northern lakes would at once be opened. This is an object in its character sufficiently national to demand the attention of the General Government. When we consider too the vast quantities of public lands to be greatly enhanced in value by the accomplishment of this work of internal improvement, we cannot doubt, that in the exercise of a magnanimous and judicious policy, Congress will, by donation to the state, of the sections thus reserved, aid our infant resources in constructing the canal. This donation would, it is believed, almost complete the work; would be repaid to the General Government in a ten fold proportion in the sale of the public lands, and would give impulse to the improvement and prosperity of the state heretofore unknown.

I have received and submit for your information the report of a joint committee and sundry resolutions of the legislature of the state of Ohio, on the subject of a canal at the falls of the Ohio river. This report and these resolutions, are declaratory of the lively and deep interest which that state feels in the construction of such canal, and of their intention to unite in the execution of such work, with one or the other of the states of Kentucky or Indiana.

A report of the commissioners appointed by the "Act providing for opening a canal at the falls of the Ohio" will shortly be laid before you. It is sanguinely hoped that the state of Ohio will ultimately unite with Indiana in the undertaking, and interest herself to such extent as to bring the object certainly within the means of this state. In that event, the most cautious and fearful, as to the magnitude of the undertaking would abandon their scruples, and estimate this work as connected, not only with the best interests, but with the revenue and reputation of the state.

An advance of a small portion of the three per cent. fund without interest would in that event enable the state to progress with the work. This would supersede the necessity of resorting to other means, and the canal once completed, its revenues would repay to that fund the whole amount thus obtained, and not retard its application to roads and other proper objects. Congress would probably agree to this proposition on the basis of a fair reciprocity: the state stipulating that the public property of the United States, should forever pass the canal toll free.

Of similar character to the canals just mentioned, is the construction of the National Road from Wheeling to the Mississippi, passing through the metropolis of our state. The location of this road is of the greatest importance to the north-western states. This object is directly within the purview of their compacts with the General Government, at the times of their admission into the Union, and two per cent of the sales of public lands within those states are set apart for such objects. Its location at this time through Indiana, assumes much additional importance, from the removal of the Government to Indianapolis, its permanent seat, and from the character of the central parts of the state, requiring more attention to roads than those districts of country bordering on the Ohio river and first settled. This road if once located, would, in addition to the funds in existence for its construction, attract the attention of the Legislature and the counties through which it might pass, and would in a short time become not only useful, but ornamental to the State.

Some of these objects, it is true, are not fairly within the scope of our Legislative capacity. On some of them it would perhaps be nugatory to legislate. But it is competent at all times (and in these cases it would no doubt be useful) for the Legislature to express their opinions in relation to any great interest of the country, though that interest be subjected exclusively to the control of the General Government.

The financial operations of the last year, have been more successful, than was anticipated by the most sanguine. Of the $19,000 supposed to be necessary to be procured by loan, only $5,971 have actually been procured, and of this sum $971 were Seminary funds unemployed in the Treasury. So greatly beneficial to the Treasury has the change of system been, that the current expenditures have been more easily and more promptly met with this amount, than they were the previous year by a reissue of $15,000 of treasury notes; and with this additional advantage, that on the expenditures authorized by the last Legislature, the State has paid interest on $5,971 only, while on that authorized by a previous session, interest has been paid on $15,000. In addition to this, the public credit has been maintained, the currency restored to soundness, and much of the public expenditure economised in proportion as the currency has been rescued from depreciation.

The receipts into the Treasury during the year 1824 have amounted to $40,435 94, by which the Treasury notes have been redeemed in good faith and the audited warrants paid, and there is now in the Treasury in available funds $12,508.

The state debt amounted on the 1st January 1824, to $27,044 19. On the 1st January 1825, it amounted, exclusive of interest, to $17,499 17. This consists of $4,655 Treasury Notes yet in circulation, $5,971 loan, $5,000 which the State owes to Roads and Canals, and $1,873 17 on the bonds transferred to the Treasurer of the United States. The state debt at this time, exclusive of interest, exceeds the actual cash in the Treasury $4,991 17.

The revenue assessed for the last year, after deducting the per cent for collection, amounted to $39,294 86. Much of this sum has been paid in outstanding notes and audited warrants, but the residue thereof and balances of previous years, deducting also ten per cent for delinquent lists, are estimated as being sufficient to defray the current expenditures of the present year, to pay so much of the loan as becomes due, and discharge the balance due to the Treasurer of the United States. The current expenditures of the present year will probably not exceed $21,000, and on all expenses, contingent in their nature, we may confidently expect a reduction; for no one can for a moment doubt, that such expenses will be much less, when based on a metallic currency, than they have been on a depreciated paper system.

From this view of the finances we may fairly come to the conclusion, that the time has arrived, when we may safely lessen the burdens imposed on the community, for the support of the Government. In doing this however, we must be careful, not to expose the Treasury to future embarrassments, or the Legislature to the necessity of creating loans or reissuing Treasury Notes. And while the public expenditure ought to be regulated by the strictest economy, our receipts should be greater than our expenditures, and our authorised revenues competent to meet every contingency intervening the assessments and the final collections. We should also consider the objects likely to increase our expenses in future years and prepare the Treasury to meet them. Among these may be numbered the increase of representation which the next ratio may produce, and the commencement and progress of the public buildings at this place.

To meet the expenditures occasioned by the increase of representation, the increased quantities of land which will then be subject to taxation will be more than sufficient, and the proceeds of the sale of Public property at this place, will probably pay the last appropriation for the Court House, and meet the costs of the public buildings.

As the population of our country increases, so will increase our means and resources, which will hereafter be sufficient to pay off the small residue of the state debt, and in a very few more years authorize a further diminution of taxes.

Experience of the past year has shewn, that some further improvement is practicable in our revenue system. The procuring of maps of the counties from the land offices, if made obligatory upon the courts doing county business, would, it is believed greatly improve the revenue. This opinion is based upon the results already produced in the few counties where such maps have been procured. The per cent upon the collection too is believed, not to be sufficient. In some counties no collector was obtained for the last year. The great object in the collections is promptness and certainty. This will repay in a large proportion, a sufficient compensation to the collectors. Equal justice would also seem to require that collectors from distant counties should receive mileage to and from the Treasury. This might be made an additional inducement to punctuality, by authorizing it in favor of those only, who should make final settlements at the Treasury, on or before the day prescribed by law.

Agreeably to the provisions of the constitution it is necessary that an enumeration of the white male inhabitants, above the age of twenty one years, should be made during the present year. For this it will be necessary that provision be made by law; and for this purpose little more will be necessary than to require, that persons insane and paupers be also noticed on the listers books.

The details of the militia law have been found insufficient, and in many cases there is no discretionary power vested to supply its defects. In contested elections no power exists to order a board of officers to meet a second time where they have failed to meet agreeably to orders. No power exists to order a second board to convene, nor is there any authority to order a new election in either of the above cases. A case has occurred in the first brigade in which all these difficulties have been met, and in which agreeably to the opinion of the attorney general, a commission must issue on the return, pending the contest, unless the Legislature provide a remedy.

In regiments formed of very detached settlements, convenience would no doubt be consulted, by authorizing elections of field officers to be held in various battalions of such regiments, and by authorizing the battalions of such regiments, to drill separately in the month of October as well as that of May.

In the cavalry it is believed that a better organization and a greater degree of military spirit would be introduced by the formation of squadrons in the various Brigades or Divisions under proper commands and suitable regulations as to the drill.

In noticing the prominent interests of the country submitted to the care of the Legislature, I cannot pass by the improvements necessary for the residence of the Government at this place. It is true that not much at this time seems to be within the power of the Legislature on the subject. The ordinary revenues of the state have very properly been pledged for the payment of the current expenses of the Government, and of the state debt, and the proceeds of the sales of public property at this place, have been looked to for the completion of the public buildings. The good management of this fund is in a special manner incumbent on the Legislature. Public faith stands pledged to the purchasers of property in various parts of the Town, that the public buildings contemplated on the Circle and the State House Squares should be commenced as soon as practicable. In this policy will be consulted alike the interests of purchasers and of the state; for the commencement of the public buildings will afford strong inducements to the completion of payments, the prevention of forfeitures and the increase of the means to finish the work. These buildings should for the present be commenced and completed as the funds alluded to will authorize.

Among the improvements before alluded to, there is none more deserving of attention than a State Library. Many valuable books already belong to the State, and if some regulations for their use and preservation should be made with only a moderate annual allowance for their increase, they would soon constitute a respectable collection.

It will afford me great pleasure to co-operate with you in every measure calculated to promote the public good.

WILLIAM HENDRICKS.

Hon. J. B. RAY, Pres. &c.

To the Hon. J. B. Ray,

President of the Senate,

SIR,

The Treasurer, in obedience to the directions of the act, entitled "An act concerning the auditor of public accounts and treasurer of state," respectfully submits the following report of the public revenue and expenditure, from Nov. 29, 1823, to December 31, 1824:

Amount on hand at the last annual report,	$1,733 98
Payments during the above period for assessments for the year 1817,	112 00
" 1821,	175 00
" 1822,	1,158 56

" 1824,	26,586 30

By the present agent,	4,974 25
	$63,439 87

During the same period the following sums have been paid at the treasury:

For public printing	$2,769 84
For contingent expenses,	660 10
For expenses of the last General Assembly, and such special appropriations as come under no general head,	12,000 03
For claims on account of the seat of Government,	5,841 75
For interest on treasury notes,	905 75

Interest to Rapp,	-	-	291 00
For claims on account of state prison,	-	-	3,614 76
For warrant No. 196, given to John Turner for wolf scalps,	-	-	112 00
For expenses of presidential election,	-	-	232 59
To the officers of the Judiciary,	-	-	6,593 23
To the officers of the Executive department,	-	-	3,050 00
To the Attorney General,	-	-	250 00
To the Adjutant General,	-	-	125 00
Amount in the Treasury,	-	-	26,587 78
			63,439 87

The warrants outstanding on the first day of January inst., were nineteen in number; on which the sum due on Legislative claims, was $264 20; on Judiciary, $595 48; on state prison, $103 00; to Electors, $40 33; to Circuit Prosecutors, $214 50; amounting in all to $1,217 53.

The demands against the Treasury, that will arise during the present year in addition to the above, are

Treasury notes in circulation,	-	-	$4,565 00
Supposed interest on same,	-	-	300 00
Instalment of loan to Rapp, and interest,	-	-	1,300 00
United States' assignees of Vincennes bank,	-	-	2,210 34
Current expenditures, same as lowest year for three years past,	-	-	20,970 56

Total,	-	-	$30,603 43

The cash on hand, deducting $15,435 00 Treasury notes, is 11,152 78. After deducting delinquencies returned, and commissions on the assessments of 1824, the amount unpaid on the 1st January instant, was about $9,000 00. Of this sum, at least $1,000 more in delinquencies will be returned. Of the balances due on the first of January 1824, $13,736 42 have since been paid. The remainder of those balances then thought to be secure, added to what may still be expected from the revenue of 1824, will make the credits of the State about $15,000. Should the collection of this sum progress as heretofore, $9,000 of it may be expected to be paid in the year 1825. The anticipations of the revenue of the year 1825 will therefore be at least eleven thousand dollars, and that sum will be considerably increased, should the expenses of this year equal those of either of the two past years. The payments into the Treasury since the first Jan. inst. to this date, (the 13th,) amount to $4,618 38. This, with what was previously paid, satisfies the amount charged against the counties of Allen, Wayne, Union, Fayette, Franklin, Ripley, Jennings, Clark, Floyd, Spencer, Warriek, Gibson, Knox, Daviess, Martin, Sullivan, Parke, Montgomery, Marion, Morgan, Johnson, Hamilton and Shelby. Small sums only are due from the counties of Randolph, Dearborn, Switzerland, Jefferson, Harrison, Washington, Jackson, Lawrence, Orange, Crawford, Dubois, Pike, Posey, Greene, Owen, Decatur, Bartholomew, and Scott. The counties which have yet paid nothing, are Hendricks, Henry, Madison, Perry, Putnam, Rush and Vermillion.

The suit against the late treasurer, is yet undecided; having been twice continued by his affidavit.

I have the honour to be, &c.

SAMUEL MERRILL.

Which were read and ordered to lie on the table.

The Senate now according to order, resolved itself into committee of the whole Senate, on the bill requiring certain notices to be given by persons who petition the General Assembly for the adoption of a law or laws, whereby private rights or privileges are affected:

Mr. Milroy in the chair;

When after some time spent therein, the committee rose;

Mr. President resumed the chair, and

Mr. Chairman reported: That the Senate had, according to order, had under consideration, and had instructed him to report the following resolution, and request the concurrence of the Senate therein, to wit:

Resolved, That so much of the Governor's message, as relates to the state prison, and so much thereof as relates to the expenses of keeping the prisoners in Madison county, and so much thereof as relates to the public buildings and public property, be referred to the committee of ways and means.

And that so much thereof as relates to roads and canals, be referred to the committee on roads and canals.

And that so much thereof as relates to the communications from the Governor of Georgia, and the resolution of the legislature of that state, together with the communications from the states of Ohio and Maine, disapproving of the same, and so much thereof as relates to the resolutions from the Governor of Ohio, for emancipating slaves in the United States, and so much thereof as relates to the enumeration of the white male inhabitants of this state, over twenty-one years of age, and so much thereof as relates to the act of Congress giving the state a right of preemption to one quarter section of land in each new county in the states and territories where public lands are—and also so much thereof as relates to the navigation of Wabash river, be severally referred to select committees.

Mr. Pennington offered for adoption, the following joint resolution, to wit:

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 19, 1825.

Senate assembled.

The President laid before the Senate, the following communication, from his Excellency, the Governor, to wit:

Indianapolis, Jan. 13, 1825.

DEAR SIR—It becomes my duty, through you to inform the Senate, that a vacancy has taken place in the agency for the state at this place, by the resignation of B. F. Morris, Esq.

With much respect,

Your obed't serv't.

WILLIAM HENDRICKS.

JAMES B. RAY, Esq.,

Pres't pro tem. of the Senate.

Which communication was read and ordered to lie on the table.

The President also laid before the Senate, the following communication from the canal commissioners, to wit:

To the Honourable, the General Assembly of the state of Indiana:

The commissioners appointed by the last General Assembly to open a canal at the Falls of the Ohio, respectfully report—

That without delay, they addressed a memorial to the Legislature of Ohio, a copy of which is herewith transmitted. A communication from his Excellency, the Governor of Ohio, has been very lately received, including a copy of certain joint resolutions of the Ohio Legislature of the 25th February last, in answer to the memorial submitted to them. The Legislature of Ohio express therein, the deep interest which they feel for the success of the undertaking, and their willingness to participate in a work of the kind; but previously require from the Legislature of this state, propositions more definite in character than those laid before them, to be compared with such as they may receive from the state of Kentucky, before they decide with which state they will co-operate.

The commissioners have endeavoured to obtain correct information as to the prospects of obtaining money on loan, sufficient for the completion of the work. The accompanying documents induce a belief that the money may be had for stock, issued in the name, and by the express authority of the state, irredeemable for twenty years or longer, bearing an interest of five or six per cent. payable quarterly in the city of New-York or Philadelphia. The above conditions appear to be considered indispensable. It is mentioned that $103 may be expected to be received for such five per cent. stock of $100, and $116 for six per cents.

It is believed by your commissioners, that some of the above conditions were not contemplated by the act authorizing this loan, and they do not, on that account, consider themselves warranted in proceeding without a further expression of the will of the General Assembly now in session. They presume not, to recommend a course to be presumed by the General Assembly, in deciding on a measure of such great and general interest. The reports of engineers, Messrs. Bates and Kelly, herewith transmitted, afford the best information in their possession on the subject of the cost and profit of such a canal. They will only observe, that should the investment of money in the canal to half the amount of the cost, be profitable & productive of revenue to the state when finished, or in a reasonable time thereafter, an investment to the whole amount would be much more so, without being subject to the misunderstandings often incident to partnerships, otherwise it would be but right that the states of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Kentucky, those most incommoded by the Falls, should, whenever it suited them, do at their own cost, that which would most benefit them.

It is believed that the unexpended balance of the state road fund, would be as beneficially applied towards the canal by re-appropriation, as it is at the present time, received as it probably will be, in small annual payments.

A memorial was forwarded to the Legislature of Pennsylvania, desiring their assistance; and a letter was addressed to our representation in Congress, requesting their joint exertions in obtaining a loan from the General Government in favour of the canal. No answer has been received from either.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WILLIAM HENDRICKS,
CHRISTOPHER HARRISON.

Stewart and others, praying a law authorizing a certain conveyance of land therein named; which was read—when Mr. Pennington moved that the said petition, with accompanying documents, be referred to a select committee, to report thereon; which reference was refused, on the ground that the law for the settlement of intestates' estates, already provides a sufficient remedy on this subject; and the said documents were withdrawn.

Mr. Pennington laid before the Senate, the petition of John Keller and others, praying a re-location of the seat of justice of Crawford county; which was read, and referred to a select committee, composed of Messrs. Pennington, Thompson, Graham, Montgomery and Grass, to report thereon.

Mr. Ewing from the joint committee on enrolled bills, now made the following report, to wit:

The Speaker of the House of Representatives has signed an act, entitled "an act, for the relief of collectors of the state revenue for the year 1824;" and I am directed by the committee on enrolled bills, to lay the same before the President of the Senate for his signature—and the same having been signed by the president, was returned to the committee on enrolled bills, to be laid before the Governor for his approval and signature.

Mr. Chambers from the select committee on the subject, now made the following report, to wit:

Mr. President,

Your committee to whom was referred the petition of Asa Bales and others, praying a part of the county of Morgan to be attached to the county of Hendricks, and the remonstrance of Joseph Summers and others, against the same, have had the same under consideration; and are of opinion, that it is inexpedient to grant the prayer of the said petitioners; which report was read, and concurred in.

Mr. Rariden asked, and obtained leave to lay before the Senate, a joint resolution relative to binding the books in the secretary of state's office; which was read, and ordered for second reading to-morrow.

Mr. Rariden also, on leave being granted, introduced a bill to amend an act, entitled an act, for assessing and collecting the revenue; which was read, and ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Gregory offered for consideration, the following resolution, to wit:

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to enquire of the agent at Indianapolis, and learn of him whether the bonds required to be taken by him from those persons that leased the sixteenth section at the Falls of Fall creek, have been taken agreeably to the provisions of an act, for leasing said section; and the situation of said property so far as has come within his knowledge, with leave to report thereon—and Messrs. Gregory, Johnson, Craig and Chambers, were appointed that committee.

Mr. Ewing then laid before the Senate, the following protest; which was read, to wit:

"The undersigned member of the Senate, having had the misfortune to dissent from a majority of his associates, on many questions relative to legal rights and the public good, which he is bound to believe all wish to keep in view, feels particularly called upon to avail himself of a constitutional privilege, to spread upon the journal of proceedings, a brief statement of his reasons for opposing and thus enter his protest against the passage of two bills from the other House, which were sanctioned on yesterday—one is entitled "an act to provide for the payment of certain claims allowed by the circuit court of Sullivan county;" the other "an act to authorize the agent of the three per cent. fund to pay over certain monies therein named."—He protests against the first mentioned act to satisfy claims in Sullivan county, because an act is now in full force, approved, January 31, 1824, entitled "an act for improving the navigation of the river Wabash;" by the first section of which, so much of the three per cent. fund as was then due, or might become due to the counties of Knox, Sullivan, Vigo, Vermillion and Parke, under certain reservations, which do not embrace, or provide for the claims now legalized to be paid, was solemnly set apart for the improvement of said river; and because no evidence was afforded that the claims in question were in existence and adjudicated upon by the court, at the period the act of January 31, 1824 was published.

He protests against the passage of the other act aforesaid, which authorizes the agent to pay over certain monies therein named, because he apprehends that an improper construction of legislative authority destitute at least of sound political validity, might be predicated upon its sanction—inasmuch as it is in direct hostility to an existing law; and will impair or totally exhaust, the fund now due for the improvement of the Wabash; and public faith seems to be infringed by divesting that river of the legal apportionment, and that too without any documents to shew that any legal claim now exists under contracts made previous to a knowledge of the act for the improvement of the Wabash aforesaid; or for any damages sustained, or labour performed, previous to its publication; or that the amount authorized to be paid was, or will be, expended within the limits of the counties whose portion of the fund was set apart for that river—inasmuch as the idea of legislative uniformity, actuated by laudable, equitable and patriotic sentiments, which the just and eternal interests of the people require, seems opposed to any infringement of any act permitted to remain on the statute book—and as he believes that the legislative power is bound by its own enactments so long as they exist as a rule of conduct, and can have no original, but strictly a declaratory power in regard to such cases as are embraced by the acts which elicit this protest—and as the diversion of the part of the three per cent. fund appropriated for the Wabash, by the said acts, offers no very righteous contrast to the objects upon which the greater part of that fund has heretofore been obviously wasted, justice to the primary interests of the state, and the sacred interests of the people, seem at this moment to require and demand this expression.

The undersigned in entering this protest against the passage of the acts aforesaid, does not hesitate to give his decided affirmative to the proposition in its fullest latitude, that a majority of the people's representatives can alter or abolish, any laws existing, (not affecting vested rights) whenever they think proper; but he believes it a maxim of political wisdom, equally sanctioned by the constitution and verified by reason, and by experience, that constitutional laws vesting certain privileges and immunities, should while they exist, be contemplated with reverence, approached with prudent caution, and altered or touched with trembling timidity—and that any infringement upon the enactments of such laws, calculated to impair the immunities they may authorize and set apart, without a palpable necessity to challenge the assent of every unprejudiced intelligent mind, should be distrusted and repelled.

JOHN EWING,

of Knox, Daviess and Martin.

The following engrossed bills from the House of Representatives, to wit: an engrossed bill to amend an act, entitled "an act, providing for the settlement of decedents' estates, and for other purposes"—approved, January 26, 1824; an engrossed bill to amend the act "to regulate descents;" an engrossed bill to amend the act "concerning proceedings in ejectment, distress for rent, and tenants at will holding over;" an engrossed bill to amend the act "for the assignment of dower;" an engrossed bill for the relief of certain persons therein named;" and an engrossed bill "for the formation of a new county out of the counties of Wabash and Montgomery," were severally read a first time, and severally ordered for second reading to-morrow.

Your committee to whom was referred the subject of Fall creek mills, find that the bond has been taken by the agent agreeably to the provisions of the law for leasing the said quarter section, to Wm. M'Cartney and John M'Donald; the condition of the said bond was, that the said M'Cartney and M'Donald, were to use no more timber than was necessary for building said mills and keep them in repair, and what was necessary for the improvement of ten acres of land on the aforesaid lease; but by a petition of a very respectable number of the citizens of said county, it appears that one of the partners in said lease has left the state, and the other pays no attention to said property, and that it is now in an unsafe condition; the timber thereon being greatly destroyed, and constantly destroying.—Your committee are therefore of opinion, that the prosecuting attorney for the fifth judicial circuit, be instructed to enquire into the situation of said mills, and if it is required for the safety of the property, that he be instructed to commence suit against the said lessees, in such way and manner as will best prevent the destruction of the timber; and the said report was read, and committed to a committee of the whole Senate for this day.

And on the question, shall this amendment be adopted? It was decided in the negative.

Mr. Pennington then offered the following additional section as an amendment to said bill, to wit: That previous to any license being granted hereafter, to any applicant for a tavern license, such applicant shall make and subscribe an oath, that he will not knowingly suffer or permit any species of gambling, card playing, or games of chance for money, of any description whatever in his house during the continuance of his license; and if thereafter, said tavern keeper shall knowingly permit or suffer any game of chance, by cards, dice, or other thing for money or property, or any gambling of any description whatever, in his house, out-house or any building under his control, said tavern keeper shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and on conviction shall suffer the pains and penalties thereof. Mr. Thompson standing in his place, read his protest in the words following, against the indefinite postponement of the bill relative to fugitives from labour; which bill as offered by Mr. Thompson, is published in the journals of Thursday the third inst., to wit:

The undersigned protest against a vote of the Senate, indefinitely postponing a bill relative to fugitives from labour, which he had the honour to introduce into that body, for the following reasons in part: The direct object of the bill indefinitely postponed, was to repeal a most obnoxious and oppressive provision in the act of 1824, on the same subject; by which the claimant of any fugitive from labour is authorized for himself and in his own person to execute a warrant in his own behalf and for his own interest, thereby subjecting the personal liberty of the inhabitants of this state upon any pretended claim, to the caprice, barbarity or tyranny of an interested and perhaps vindictive individual. The undersigned, whilst he disclaims the remotest idea of invading the rights of the citizens of a sister and neighbouring state, can never consent to invest them with powers greater than we confer on our own citizens, and greater than the principles of our government authorize to be conferred on any man. By the law which it was his object to repeal, by substituting the one indefinitely postponed, the claimant of a fugitive from another state is made the judge and avenger of his own wrong—that is to say, power is given him, which he has every temptation and inducement to abuse; and which the experience of our own citizens proves has been often and most vilely abused. He will not recur to the numerous instances of the flagrant violations of those laws by which every government protects those who tread on its soil—but he will forever deprecate and protest against that legislation which gives to the interested and cruel oppressor, the very power he has always been aiming at, and frequently usurped; but which he never obtained, till the impolitic act of 1824. We do not, we would not trust one of our citizens with the power of recapturing from another, his beast of burden. We insist and require, that an impartial and sworn public officer shall minister to his demands through the channel of the law—and yet the act which now tarnishes our code, makes the person claiming to be interested in the slavery of a human being, the executioner of a warrant of seizure and imprisonment. Surely when the temptation to violate a right infinitely more sacred than property already exists, we ought not to open wide the door to its indulgence.

The undersigned is perfectly willing to grant the citizens of our sister states, the full and free benefit of our laws on all occasions, upon the same terms that we give them to our own citizens. Further than that he cannot, he will not go. He believes that under the baneful influence of such a power as is now given by the act, which it was his wish to repeal, to the slave-holder of a sister state, hundreds of innocent and unsuspecting free people of colour may be incarcerated, and doomed to hopeless slavery.

The object and provisions of the bill introduced by the undersigned, contemplated a speedy seizure of the fugitive by a sworn officer of the government, in whose custody safety ought to be expected, and could be insured. A trial was to be had in three days by a jury of the country, conformably to law.—

In a case involving the personal liberty of a human being, this cannot be thought an unreasonable delay. It is the duty of every government, not only to see that injustice is not committed, but to refuse its sanction to any law or course of proceeding, that has a tendency to, or furnishes facilities for the committing of injustice. Under the operation of the act of 1824, the invaluable privilege of the writ of Habeas corpus, and the right of trial by jury, are completely destroyed, so far as the unfortunate man of colour, accused of being a fugitive, is concerned; and the boasted prerogatives of law, become the panders to unhallowed avarice and corruption.

For these and other reasons too numerous to detail, the undersigned most solemnly protests against the indefinite postponement of the bill above mentioned, and enters his protest on the journals of the Senate.

JOHN H. THOMPSON.

Which was read.

And the Senate adjourned to 9 o'clock on Monday morning.

That it shall not hereafter be lawful for any sheriff or other officer, who may serve any writ of capias ad satisfaciendum, as provided in the fourteenth section of the act subjecting real and personal property to execution, approved, January 30, 1824, to administer any oath or oaths required of defendants in custody to induce their discharge; but it shall in all such cases be the duty of the sheriff or other officer as aforesaid, to give reasonable written notice to the plaintiff, or the plaintiff's attorney of record at whose instance the writ issued, of the day, time and place to meet the defendant in custody, and confront him on investigation before some judge or magistrate of the proper county, whose judgment shall be exercised on the propriety of releasing the said defendant, and administering the oath or oaths required for the purpose aforesaid." And on the question, shall this amendment be adopted? The ayes and noes being demanded by Mr. Ewing and another:

MESSRS. Craig, Ewing, Givens, Gregory, Johnson, and Milroy—6.

And those who voted in the negative were,

MESSRS. Graham, Grass, Gray, Montgomery, Pennington, Stapp, Thompson and Ray, pres't—8.

The said bill was then further amended in some slight details, and the amendments were ordered to be engrossed, and with the bill read a third time to-morrow.

Mr. Thornton from the House of Representatives, informed the Senate, that the House of Representatives have passed bills of the following titles, to wit:

The President laid before the Senate, the following communication, to wit:

SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
FEBRUARY 10, 1825. }

The Hon. the President of the Senate:

Permit me to inform the General Assembly, that there are but about eighty copies of the revised code of the last session in this office, and to suggest the propriety of providing for the binding of a sufficient number of copies, to furnish each member of each House of the General Assembly with a copy, at the commencement of each session, to be returned at the end thereof; as also a copy for each of the clerks and secretaries of the General Assembly.

Unless this course be adopted it may safely be predicted, as an unavoidable result, that at the end of another session there will not be an entire volume of that code in this office. Such pamphlet volumes as are delivered out at this office, and not instantly returned, are almost uniformly much defaced—their titlepage, and a part of the index gone in many instances.—This happens unavoidably, it is presumed and believed.

I had understood that this subject would be considered in the Senate, or it would have been the subject of a communication from this office at an earlier period of the present session.

Respectfully,

WM. W. WICK.

Which was read, and ordered to lie on the table.

And the Senate adjourned to two o'clock P. M.

Mr. Johnson asked, and obtained leave to lay before the Senate, a joint resolution for the relief of Thomas Carter; which was twice read, and referred to the same committee of the whole, to whom was committed the bill relative to the agent of state.

Mr. Ewing from the select committee on the subject, now made the following report:

That they have had the subject under consideration, and heartily responding to the sentiments expressed by his Excellency, that “it is impossible to estimate too highly the importance of the object alluded to,” have given the subject all the attention which a press of business, and various legislative duties would permit.

Your committee cannot but view with deep and lively interest, the great and magnanimous efforts already made, and which are still making throughout the Union, to accomplish a general and permanent system of internal improvements. The statesmen and philosophers of the age, have exerted their best faculties to establish the theory and the practicability of this system, combating in their progress, ignorance and prejudice, timidity and heedlessness, in all variety of forms. They have moved fearlessly on, demonstrating by successful experiment its importance and advantages. Nor are these patriotic efforts stationary, or confined to any one section of country. The scintillations of those mighty geniuses, like "the day spring from on high," have visited every hemisphere, and the benign influence will continue to unfold and expand the beauties of a God of nature, and the mysteries of political economy, until the Danube, like the Nile, the Mississippi like the Thames, and the Wabash like the Hudson, shall exhibit one great theatre of splendid and successful exertion. It is believed by your committee that no part of the Union has a greater interest at stake in the final success and accomplishment of this system, than the state of Indiana; and that greater facilities for, or prospective advantages from internal improvements, are no where to be found. The situation and extent of her territory, the salubrity of her climate, the fertility of her soil, the variety of her productions, and her rapidly increasing population and resources, afford indications of future greatness, if a wise and judicious policy be pursued—a policy which shall be calculated to develop those natural resources in their fullest extent, to facilitate the means of transportation, so that her various productions shall find a safe and steady market. The prudent adoption of such a policy, it is firmly believed, will soon banish all the wants and embarrassments which at this time prevail too generally, and which have been mainly occasioned by its neglect. It will more advantageously benefit and exalt the vital interests of the state, and of generations yet unborn, and will afford more general and permanent relief from the pressure of the present times, and more encouragement to emigration and enterprize, improvement and confidence, than all the fictitious show of transitory enactments to affect contracts, or law, can ever accomplish.

Our state contains an area of twenty-two millions of acres of arable land, and with no greater population than at present inhabits the rocky and mountainous state of Connecticut, is capable of sustaining two millions and a half of people; and that too with comparatively moderate labour. In proportion to the facilities afforded to emigrants, and the facilities of transportation of the surplus produce of the country, will our population and wealth increase; and those who reflect upon the situation of the country thirty years ago, and compare it with its present prospects, have much to hope, and little to fear, unless our infant energies be forever paralyzed by a fluctuating and doubtful policy. Your committee know that there are many points of the state where a system of internal improvements and domestic industry, may be encouraged with a certain prospect of success, and where manufacturing and commercial capital may be accumulated to an incalculable extent, if this system shall be encouraged; but in the opinion of your committee, the improvement of the navigation of the river Wabash, is an object of the greatest importance, and the two White rivers emptying into the Wabash, should next to that stream be appreciated.—By glancing at the map of the state, no additional elucidation on that point can be thought necessary.

The expenditure to effect the purpose, will circulate in our own state; and there are but few obstructions in either of the important streams which cannot be readily removed. The Wabash being the first and great object, passing hundreds of miles near to the centre of the state, will occupy the chief attention at this time. From the mouth of that river, to the portage on the summit level of a contemplated canal to connect its waters with Lake Erie, by a route near Fort Wayne, is a distance of three hundred and thirty miles, taking the general course of the river, disregarding the innumerable windings; and those windings taken into consideration, is not less than six hundred. This river passes through an immense body of rich land, and includes with the state of Indiana, a part of Illinois. Admitting, for a moment, that its benefits were confined exclusively to a tract of country not exceeding forty miles on each side of the river and a contemplated canal, it will afford a convenient outlet for the products of sixteen millions of acres of the most fertile land in the Union, and that portion of country will be capable of sustaining a population of at least a million and a half of people. Where the canal shall be opened to unite the Wabash and Maumee of the Lakes, the line of navigable water will be immense; and this stream must necessarily become a great thoroughfare for the immense emigration and commerce of the eastern and northern states, and markets through the lakes, by way of the Great Canal of New-York, as being the nearest possible route to ourselves, as well as a part of the inhabitants of Kentucky—and to the states of Illinois, Missouri, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, and the territories lying to the north and west, advancing to the Pacific Ocean. By the trade of the states alluded to, our revenue will materially benefit as well as the country at large, so soon as the contemplated work be accomplished—and as our sister states of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia, are now busily engaged in undertakings of a similar nature, by which a large porportion of the present descending trade of the river Ohio will obviously be diverted to eastern markets, the policy and wisdom of directing the undivided energies of our state to this enterprise, cannot be questioned. Surely then we will not hesitate, or doubt the wisdom of commencing this great work by taking preparatory steps.

Your committee are well aware that some difficulties exist as to the immediate accomplishment of this grand design. A part of the country through which the route of a canal must be located, is within the Indian country; and these aborigines are lords of the soil; but your committee have every confidence that the general government upon proper application, will forthwith by treaty, extinguish the Indian title, that the work may no longer be delayed; and they feel bound to believe that Congress will yet donate the townships, or at least the sections of land through which the contemplated canal route shall be located to pass. To foster and protect the interests of every section of our state, and to connect them by ties of a common industry and mutual exchanges, aided by unobstructed rivers and navigable canals, seems to require resources beyond our own means, and to demand the considerate and efficient exertions of our delegation in the Congress of the United States.—'Tis happily a beneficent attribute of the general power, exercised for the general good, to grant the aid we so much require, and if the subject has never been thoroughly investigated in regard to our wants—'tis ourselves we have to blame or those who represent us. Your committee are confident that the increased value of the public lands in the neighbourhood; together with the national advantages to accrue from the work, will more than compensate for such donation. Should the property of the United States and her agents at all times, be allowed to pass the canals toll free, it will lessen the expense of transporting troops and munitions of war to the western posts, and surely present an additional inducement to aid the state by such donation. It is believed commissioners should be appointed to examine, survey, and mark the most eligible route for such connecting canal; as it will cause the land to be reserved from sale, and enable a future legislative body to ascertain the expense. The commissioners can descend the river from the ascertained junction of the canal, to that point where the state of Illinois becomes a party, and note, as they will no doubt be authorized to do, all the obstructions to navigation, their situation and extent, in their report; by which the expense to be incurred, and the difficulties to be overcome, can be truly estimated. From that point where the state of Illinois becomes interested, a map and a report has been heretofore procured of all obstructions to the junction of the Ohio—some of the calculations of which as regards the relative expense of canalling on our side, and on that of Illinois, are found to be incorrect. In one instance a mistake of thirty thousand dollars has occurred, as will appear by reference to the report of said commissioners. [See appendix C.] It is unnecessary for your committee at this time to give any opinion upon which side of the river the contemplated canals should be located at the rapids below Vincennes, as that will be a matter to be investigated by the commissioners who will be appointed by each state, if the plan of improvement now to be suggested shall be approved.

Your committee, so soon as the proper estimates can be formed, would recommend the creation and sale of stock to an amount of one half the contemplated expense of removing the obstructions in the river, and completing the canals on that side which shall be approved of by the commissioners of each state, so as to secure a certain and permanent navigation below where it ceases to be the boundary line of Illinois and Indiana; for the redemption of which stock the faith of the state shall be pledged; and so soon as the state of Illinois shall give her assent, and notify the state of Indiana that she has provided the necessary funds on her part, the commissioners shall be authorized to take possession of so much land upon each side of the different falls of the river, as may appear to be necessary for the canal, and for such water privileges as shall be deemed proper and convenient for the advantage of the said states; in lieu of which, an equivalent shall be paid to the owners of the land, thus entered upon; and so soon as the preliminaries shall be agreed upon by the two states, the commissioners shall employ such engineers and assistants, as may be necessary to progress with the work, until its final completion. Your committee have had referred to them, an act, entitled "An act to incorporate the Wabash navigation company," adopted by the Legislature of Illinois, transmitted here for our concurrence, and are extremely gratified that the subject has been considered by that state, as they have every confidence that her enlightened and patriotic representatives, and functionaries, will co-operate in every measure which shall be clearly calculated to advance the common interest of both. But your committee must here disapprove of committing such an important matter as the navigation of the Wabash to the discretionary powers of any corporation, more particularly as the plan, they believe, would be in the end unsuccessful unless the faith of the state stands pledged, and more time elapse before the necessary work be completed than the best interest of either state can permit.—It is believed that canals around the rapids, of the contemplated capacity, will furnish a surplus of water for hydraulic purposes of infinite importance, and immense value to the manufacturing interests of both states. With a fall of fifteen feet six inches, (the amount estimated by the commissioners heretofore appointed on that portion,) a wheel of more than fifteen feet diameter can be used, and three hundred cubic feet of water per minute, is sufficient for two pair of millstones of the diameter of four and a half feet. So that twenty thousand cubic feet per minute, (which may be spared from the canal if necessary,) will propel sixty-six pair of stones, or any other machinery requiring the same power. The act of incorporation referred to gives no authority to enter upon lands but for the purposes of canal navigation, which, in the opinion of your committee, would inevitably lead to a sacrifice of the important sources of revenue, so justly expected from the water power just noticed, a sacrifice of benefits too important to be overlooked under any circumstances. Again, all experience in the western country, points to the necessity of each state joining in their sovereign capacity for the advancement of all great undertakings—and your committee hope the improvement of the Wabash, or at least, the canal to connect it with the lakes, will yet have national aid, under auspices of that glorious system of internal improvement already commenced by the general government. Your committee decidedly approve of the plan they have suggested in preference to any act of incorporation, and they sincerely lament that the legislature of Illinois will not again be in session until the year 1826—but the preparatory steps on the part of this state, for affecting the object in all its parts, may require time for its perfect arrangement, and our adoption and progress, will no doubt point out a clear path for the state of Illinois, if not remove many difficulties she might otherwise have to encounter. The annexed letters marked A. and B. from gentlemen whose knowledge was sought for, have been received by our chairman. To such, (if any there be,) as may for want of accurate information, doubt of the practicability of the grand completion of the glorious work contemplated, they are unquestionably important, and with that view submitted. With these hasty remarks, your committee submit for adoption, the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the improvement of the navigation of our rivers, and the connection of the Wabash with the lakes are matters of primary importance to the future advancement and prosperity of the state of Indiana, and should be commenced as soon as practicable, and prosecuted under state auspices and direction, for the benefit of the state.

Resolved, That the plan adopted by the state of Illinois to improve the navigation of the river Wabash, by their act entitled "An act to incorporate the Wabash navigation company," cannot be assented to on the part of the state of Indiana, and that the plan suggested in this report, be and the same is hereby approved.

Resolved, That our Senators in Congress be instructed, and our Representatives requested to use all possible endeavour to obtain from the government of the United States for this state, a grant of the sections of land through which the contemplated canal to connect the river Wabash with the Maumee of Lake Erie shall pass; also a similar grant of the sections through which a feeder for said canal will pass to the river St. Joseph's.

Resolved, That his Excellency, the President of the United States be, and he is hereby requested to take such steps for the extinguishment of the Indian title to any part of the land now claimed by them, on the margin of the Wabash river, as he may deem best calculated to accomplish the desired object as soon as possible.

Resolved, That copies of the foregoing preamble and resolutions, be transmitted by the Governor of Indiana, to his Excellency, the President of the United States, to the Governor of the state of Illinois, and to each of our Senators in Congress.

APPENDIX.

Indianapolis, January 31, 1825.

SIR—In compliance with your request, I give you the information I possess on the subject of uniting the waters of the Lake with those of the Wabash.

The distance on the portage line between the St. Mary's and the head of navigation on Little River, is 5 3-4 miles, through a wet prairie. The greatest elevation does not exceed 14 feet; there are two creeks running through said prairie, entering from the north; one of which runs into Little River, and the other into the St. Mary's; and when the rivers named could be navigated, there is then a sufficiency of water in the prairie to supply a feeder.

The length of the feeder to be taken from the St. Joseph's, would be about 8 miles; the depth on the high grounds between the St. Joseph's and Little River, would be about 40 feet—there would be four creeks to cross on the route. There can be no apprehension of any lack of water in the feeder if taken from the St. Joseph's.

But in order that the contemplated canal may more completely answer the purpose intended, it ought to commence at the junction of the St. Mary's and St. Joseph's, and continue to the junction of the Wabash and Little River, the distance would be between 25 and 30 miles; in that case, the feeder from St. Joseph's would be about 7 miles.

The reason why the last mentioned route would be best, is that the St. Mary's affords but little water in some seasons of the year; indeed not a sufficiency to float a canoe. Little River is a deep sluggish stream, but near the mouth there is a rapid in which there are many rocks, and the navigation difficult, even at a common stage of water.

I am your's, &c.

B. J. BLYTHE.

The Hon. JOHN EWING.

B.

SIR—We believe that a canal to connect the waters of the Wabash and Maumee is perfectly practicable; its length will be about twenty-five miles—the country level, part of the soil sandy, though susceptible of the object. The St. Joseph's river can be brought on the summit level, and will probably afford a supply of water for a feeder at all seasons.

JOHN TIPTON,
BENJ. B. KERCHEVAL.

Hon. JOHN EWING.

C.

Supposing the canal to be 13,305 yards long, 21 feet wide, 13 1-2 feet deep, it would produce 434,857, 5 cubic yards, in place of 427,955, as reported by the commissioners; and would cost at 10 cents a yard cubic, $43,485 75; in place of $42,955 50, as reported.

SECOND ROUTE CONTEMPLATED.

Distance, 11,484 yards, same width and depth as before will produce 361,746 cubic yards, at 10 cents as before, will amount to $36,174 60 cents, in place of $66,364 80 cents, as reported by the commissioners.

Which was read and concurred in; and 500 copies thereof ordered to be printed for the use of the members, in addition to the copies printed with these journals.
